

OVER THE PASS

"Sublime. That's the group. They're more reggae. I listen to Pandora, pretty much 'Sublime Radio.' Bob Marley's pretty cool, too."

— Brian Main, manager, Brix, Trinidad

"Marvin Gaye, 'Let's Get It On.' Who else? What about the Isley Brothers? My favorite is Saturday early morning while I'm cooking breakfast listening to the Isley Brothers."

— Preston Brown, delivery driver, Sawaya Wholesale, Trinidad

TIM KELLER'S CONNECTIONS

"What's your favorite music for a good mood?"

"Pink Floyd, 'The Wall.' I lost my CD and I'm trying to find another. I've loved that album for at least 30 years. I smoke a joint and it puts me into a good mood."

— Martha Saiz-Portillos, stock clerk, Shirley's Thrift, Trinidad

"I grew up in the 60s. I like rock and roll—the Beatles, Rolling Stones, Cream, Led Zeppelin, the Beach Boys. Roy Orbison, that man had a phenomenal voice. I like to listen to it when I get home from work, while I'm reading a good book."

— Tasha Stepelton, semi-retired fine-dining chef, Trinidad

Miners fall to Crowley Chargers

guered Coach Randy Begano. "We run three good plays, and then we relax. We have to block people. There is no other excuse. Our kids play hard and don't quit, but we've got to play four quarters. We just can't take downs off."

Trinidad was held to minimal yardage offensively, notching their single first down with less than six minutes remaining in the third quarter, and running a meager 27 plays. Conversely, the Chargers ran 48 plays and controlled the line of scrimmage, opening big holes for Clabley and speedy sophomore Dylan Tuma. The Miners were also unable to successfully defend against the perfectly spiraled throws of Clabley. Crowley County scored a single touchdown in the first period, but exploded for 20 in the second and 13 in the third to dash any hopes for a successful Miner Homecoming. The final two Charger touchdowns in the third quarter, and another early in the fourth, instituted the 'running clock' rule with 10:45 remaining.

"We have players that are working hard and getting closer, especially those who work hard with their training," Assistant Coach Gary Vezzani said. "Training and getting physically ready is important. It has to be more players than just our starters. Our defense needs work, but they are working harder. Our offense just can't get rolling. They made a good effort. There are some kids who do play hard, but we need all of them to do that. I feel badly with the loss because I feel like I let the kids down. I have to do a better job as a coach."

The Miners, playing their final game of the season, will be on the road to contest the winless Dolores Huerta Scorpions in Pueblo on Friday, May 28. Kickoff is slated for 7 p.m.
